Plenty of "We Want Your Gold" type sites on the internet and even Ebay has sellers. Would appreciate information from anyone who has had hassle-free dealings in selling sovereigns.

Hi there I've been looking into buying gold sovereigns and wondered if anyone has done any research on the cheapest place to buy them?

My Uncle (who is in his 80s) wants to gift some gold sovereigns to my children (aged 10 and 13). He has already bought some sovereigns and he has all the receipts. He makes other cash ...

The price of gold 2 years ago (early September 2014) was a fraction under £740 an ounce and you would have been able to buy 20 Sovereigns (the same amount of gold as your four £5 coins) ...

Would you actually get £1500 cash in your hand if you sold it? Going by the prices of sovereigns on the Chards site mentioned earlier they sell at ~£310-320 and buy at ~£300, so the ...
