

Who needs to agree for solar panel installation on a rental property?

While it may be possible to install solar panels on a rental property, it will take an agreement between the renter and the property owner and even neighbors if you live in a multi-dwelling building.

Can a landlord install solar panels on a property?

In theory, yes. But because installing solar panels is a significant property upgrade, it would require your landlord's permission. But we wouldn't recommend this; it doesn't make sense to spend so much on a property that's not yours. You're better off convincing your landlord to install the system instead.

Can a homeowner lease or rent a solar power system?

No, only the homeowner can enter an agreement to lease or rent a solar power system. Furthermore, solar leases and rentals are designed to be long-term arrangements, so there's a big financial penalty for removing the solar panels before the contract term is up. 1. Ask your landlord to install solar panels
